Summer Reading Reflection

Fill out this reflection to claim your final blackout prize!

1. Who was one of your favorite characters from a book you read? Why?

2. Draw something from one of your books! (a character, a scene, a place, etc.)

What book is this from?: _____

3. What's something you're proud of from summer reading?

Summer Reading Rules

As you read, fill in each square with the title of a book that matches the category. Each box should have a different title, so if a book matches multiple categories, just pick which one you want to use it for.

When you complete a bingo, stop by the store to show us and pick up your prizes! If you're unable to stop in, you can email a photo of your sheet to bingo@redballoonbookshop.com and pick up your prizes in the parking lot. A bingo counts as any four consecutive squares (diagonals allowed). You can also wait to turn in your bingo sheet until you have completed all of the challenges.

Frequently Asked Questions

How do I choose which books to read?

We encourage finding books by Black authors or by other authors of color; otherwise it's up to you! Having trouble with a particular category or age group? We have ideas!

Who can participate in the reading challenge?

Anyone (though only kids and teens will get prizes)! If you're reading independently, boxes should be filled in with books you've read by yourself. If you're still learning to read, fill in boxes with books you've read with family or friends.

What counts as a Red Balloon recommendation?

Visit the Summer Reading page on our website for a list of staff recommendations!

Should books be fiction or nonfiction?

All categories can be filled by either except "read a biography or autobiography" (which needs to be nonfiction)!

Do audiobooks count? What about graphic novels?

Yes and yes! Books can be in any format to qualify, as long as they match the other criteria. We recommend Libro.fm for audiobooks that support indie bookstores like us!

Can I use the same book for multiple boxes?

Nope! The goal is to read lots of books you might not read otherwise, so each box needs to be filled with its own book title.
